

On Soviet Marxism - Pure Points of a Conjecture - Poincare

By Ishlav Mentaraz

- I. Conjecturing as a Style of Philosophy - against the more French, love for presentation, demonstration, world and logic of Mao, and all this simple discussion on friendship, and empiricism

Instead just conjecture.

- II. Be precise, be scientific and formal only in the sciences - accusing Sirohi of being only a militant all the time. (Current accusation, just covering why he has to be so empirical and news like, he needs to be relevant - and knows all of this as a genius, for actually Israel as well, a kind of comment that he is too genius then, and has to wait for the pure process in fact because it is too pure)

The Soviet style philosophy is just to be precise as Sirohi argues - even logically in abstraction of a ladder which is simply abstract it - draw a point cross it with lines call it a conjecture and abstract it poemically perhaps if that is the process you go for - just argue this is about the person being in fact caught in a political attack which is about the subject but in fact the conjecture is purer it is about the pure subjective life of all people in even Cuba - which is though led by a political leader and that then is called forcing.

- III. What is called a Conjecture

Our point was that is a conjecture - that people are minimal and leader is maximal - Poincare is the conjunction which means Cuba wins. It is a conjecture when it is a correct in philosophy conjecture - like a tactical gesture in science and philosophy.
